NUH REFERRAL LABORATORY (NRL)

For NUH External Customers

Founded in 1987 as a joint venture with Medlux AB, a Swedish company jointly owned by Medscand AB & AB Electrolux, NRL was initially known as Medlux Laboratories Pte Ltd (mxLab). In 1991, it became a wholly owned, independent, subsidiary of NUH and was renamed as NUH Referral Laboratory (NRL).

NRL serves as an outreach arm of the National University Hospital's (NUH) Department of Laboratory Medicine (DLM) to external clients in local medical institutions and private laboratories as well as overseas. NRL coordinates with the clients and administers the logistics for samples coming from external locations to DLM for testing.

NRL's client service personnel are well trained to handle queries regarding types of tests available, service hours, type of supplies available, specimen collection and transportation conditions. Aligned with Department of Laboratory Medicine's testing schedules, test results are delivered back to the clients as soon as they are completed.
